

IN HONOR OF BROTHER TUSK

His spirit was of the Elephant, loyal, protective and kind.
We never got to make use of this cover we designed,
but i think this spring ...
it's a perfect image to share.

Perhaps the music we have already created will fill this image:)
and maybe Carry On in it's raw form will be on it:)

For now
Blessed Journey Brother Tusk
May you walk in Peace!

IN HONOR OF BROTHER TUSK ...

It was his dream to record in a professional studio and have music go out to the world. On the Easter before his passing we got to record! A magical opportunity opened. A friend wanted this song recorded and we ended up in LA at Astound Sound Studios. We never finished or polished it, Brother Tusk left this realm that summer.

This Spring I feel lead to release Carry On as it stands, in honor of his dream. May it bless you. When I wrote Carry On, it seemed like everything was going crazy so i made a list of all the things I could do to carry on. The song poured out of me.

I sang the song to Brother Tusk over the phone, he was going thru a rough time with his health and i thought he might have a verse to add. He did. He sings the strong male counter part with all his heart. As he lived his life.

My beloved sister of the heart and magical flute player added the poem at the end. My beloved Black Knight, Chaz learned the bass to the song so we could have bass. (he learned all my songs even though he'd never played before.) And Lord Elizar who added male harmonies.

We had the joy of sharing music and laughter with our Brother Tusk and in that spirit we share it with you, harming none and with goodwill to all. -debi

MAGICAL MOMENTS WITH BROTHER TUSK

It was always a joy to share the music for rituals.
These are photos from a wedding for a wonderful couple.
Blessed times.

My beloved Black Knight of over 25 years,
Brother Tusk and Debi

Always happy out on the sea.
He loved to fish 'the big ones'.

... And these are photos from a Hallowsmas Ritual out in Fallon!

Carving pumpkins,
sharing stories,
singing and celebrating.

Brother Tusk added a powerful magic with his smile and kind heart.

I always felt empowered singing and playing with him.

He made me a better musician and Priestess.

May he walk in Peace.

Be Blessed & Blessed Be,
Debi LeFaye
